Red and White Pucksters Wallop U. of M. 9-4; Skiers Defeated at Middlebury

Tommy Hale Notches Three Goals, 1 Assist

By NORM WOLFE.

Dave Campbell's rampaging Redmen rolled to their fourth straight victory in intercollegiate play this year as they torpedoes the University of Montreal sextet, 9-4, at the Forum Friday evening. Sparked by another hat trick by Tommy Hale, the Senior Intercollegiate champs unleashed their most terrific offensive display in many a moon to keep well ahead of the capable Carabins throughout the tilt.

Taking advantage of some spotty goaling by Mercer, the U. of M. netminder, McGill's hustling Hale brother combo exploded into action in the first minute of play; before you could say George and Tommy the Redbirds had a great big two up on the scoreboard. When Jack Millar added another marker to the Red and White total a few minutes later, the game began to assume the proportions of a walk-over. But Alcide Hebert's crew lightened their defences and commenced to exhibit some mighty fine hockey, holding the marauding Martlets to a single goal in the next forty-one minutes.

It was during this long stretch that one of McGill's favorite sons again came into the limelight. Displaying the matchless form and flawless clearing technique that make him college hockey's top net custodian, the Redmen's captain and goalie, Jack Gelineau, came through with some breath-taking stops.

It was also during this span that Campbell's second line moved to the fore. Exhibiting some tenacious checking and aggressive puck-handling, the "Blue line" of Pettit, Pitfield and Spiller skated off a healthy proportion of the Redbirds 21 minutes in penalties. It is curious to note that while a total of 15 banishments (including two majors) were dished out by the refs, only one goal was scored while the opposition was short-handed. That was Tommy Hale's second marker halfway through the middle stanza. This particular effort was a result of a beautiful passing play by the Hales and Ernie Spiller.

It was in the last 13 minutes of the final period that the game really blew wide open. During this stretch a total of eight goals were registered; five for the Redmen and three for the Carabins. The partisan crowd was in a continual uproar as the red lights kept flashing, but when the siren sounded to end the match Campbell's club was on the top end of a 9-4 count.

Top scorers for the Red and White were Tommy Hale with three goals and an assist, and George Hale and Jack Miller with a goal and two assists apiece. Joe Pettit, Ward Pitfield, Johnny Brough and Will Anderson were the other McGill payoff men. For the Carabins Yvon Dion with two markers, Leferre and Lazure were the goal-

U of Manitoba Debate Winner

(By the Canadian University Press)

The University of Manitoba has retained the McGoun Debating Cup since their victories last Friday night in debates against the Universities of Alberta and British Columbia, thereby qualifying to represent the West against the East debating champions later this year. Both Manitoba teams won unanimous victories, while split decisions were gained by home teams at Saskatoon and Vancouver over the Universities of Alberta and Saskatchewan respectively in the other debates.

The subject for all four debates was: Resolved that Allied troops be withdrawn from Greece and China immediately. The Manitoba team defended the affirmative in each case.

This marks the sixth time that Manitoba has won the McGoun Cup. The trophy was put for competition in 1924, and since that time has been won by Manitoba six times, Alberta five, Saskatchewan eight, and British Columbia twice.

R & W Revue Will Feature Thrilling Act

Net week the Red and White Revue will feature a very daring dance routine by the Choreographer, Dick Hunter. This spectacular dance will last for about ten seconds in each of the six performances of the Revue. It has been necessary to insure Dick for $2,000 for the sixty seconds that he will take to do this thrilling act. However, all possible precautions will be taken to insure Dick's safety, and the safety of the audience. This should prove to be one of the most spectacular portions of the Revue.

The chorus have mastered most of their dance routines and look very polished. The girls all seem to be enjoying the rehearsals, and they are going to put in an appearance at Dawson College on Wednesday. Accompanying the eighteen beautiful chorines to Dawson, will be Bill Russell and his quartette and the models from the Fashion Show. Anne Fleming will also make the trip to Dawson where she will sing a few popular numbers. Anne sang two songs over CJAD last Saturday and turned in a very fine performance. Ted Root is continuing the Dawson Car on his Midnight Express and will feature some more interviews next week. Della Dwan, the

'Gen Nite'

Second Discussion in Series Topic to Be Public Service

"Careers in Public Service" will be the topic of discussion at the second "Gen Nite" meeting to be held in the Union this Thursday at 8:00 p.m. Speakers for the evening will be C. J. Lochman, Public Relations Officer of the Civil Service Commission, and R. B. Code, Chief Examiner for Engineering and Science Appointments, and the meeting will be chaired by Leslie Buzzell of the Graduates' Society.

The speakers will point out to the undergraduates the wide variety of career opportunities provided by the Civil Service, as the "Dominion's greatest single employer." According to Jon Ballon, chairman of the Arts and Science Education Committee, sponsors of "Gen Nite", this meeting will be of interest to all students, no matter what course they are following at University, as the openings in the government service are of such a broad scope. Last week's initial "Gen Nite" at

Women Place Second Behind Midds Squad

Bad luck and broken skis dogged both McGill ski teams at Middlebury last week as the girls, highly favoured in pre meet speculation ended 7 points behind Middlebury in the team standings, while the men could do no better than land in 7th place out of nine colleges competing.

It seemed as if the Redmen were well on their way to repeating their triumph of last year as Dawsonite Ken Thomas blasted the unfamiliar Worth Mountain trail in 1 min. 36.5 secs. to cop top honors in the downhill on Friday morning. McGill stood second in the team standing at this point, but the team came to grief in the slalom held later in the day. In this event Thomas broke a ski as he caromed against a tree, while Art Bruneau was disqualified for missing a gate. John Tyler and Don Stanforth both suffered fall: as they drove too hard on the icy course in a vain attempt to make up the deficit.

At the end of the day the computed results gave the edge in the team standings to the Big Green squad from Dartmouth as they held a two point lead over New Hampshire, while McGill had sagged to eighth place.

In the gruelling eight-mile cross country held on Saturday morning the New Hampshire Wildcats swept the field as they copied three of the first four places. Veteran Ski Trooper Ralph Townsend led the pack with a time of 58 mins. 30 secs. The best that Redman Don Stanforth could place was 7th with a time of 1:03. The jinx struck again here as bespectacled Baz Davis broke his harness but managed to finish the race in spite of the handicap.

John Foster of McGill took off for two beautiful flights of 98 and 103 feet, the latter the longest of the day, to lead the field at the Chipman Hill jump, while team mate Kaare Olsen, a former carnival ruler, placed fourth in this keenly contested event.

In the women's meet held on Thursday and Friday the Red Coeds were severely hampered when Joan Stanforth injured her leg in practice and was unable to

All Women Students Invited to Attend Tea

A tea, to be held today from 4 to 6 p.m. in the new R.V.C. lounge, will mark the official opening of this room. The lounge is located just opposite the cafeteria in Royal Victoria College, and has been decorated and furnished by the Women's Union. It is to be open at all times to women students.

Tea will be served from 4 to 4:30 and 5 to 5:30, and all coeds are invited to attend.

Veto Power IUDL Subject; Double Debate vs. Toronto

Preliminary debates in the eastern section of the I.U.D.L., between the teams of McGill, Ottawa, Loyola, and Bishop's, will be held on Wednesday, February 12. The original date of February 14 has been changed on account of the C.S. Formal.

McGill's team of Roland Laprairie and Sherwin Raymond will travel to Ottawa University to oppose the subject: "Resolved that the Veto Power contributes to the effective working of the United Nations." At McGill on the same evening Len Beaton and Conrad Shatner will uphold the affirmative against a team from Bishop's. Should the McGill representatives win in this first round of the league they will debate in the finals against the western winners on February 27.

Sherwin Raymond is debating in place of Isadore Rosenfeld, who placed first in the I.U.D.L. tryouts held last week. Rosenfeld has withdrawn because of the pressure of forthcoming debating events, which will be announced shortly. Sherwin Raymond is a gold key holder, and in three years of debating has lost only one debate. He teamed with Jim Hemmens last fall to win against Harvard.

Each McGill team will contain one new and one experienced debater, Len Beaton and Roland Laprairie. (Continued on Page Four)

Film Society Will Feature 'Devil's Island'

On Tuesday afternoon at 5:30 in Room 250 of the Biology Building the Film Society will present "Devil's Island and Martinique". This film, together with "Cyprus is an Island" will also be shown at 8:15, as the second evening program of the year.

"Devil's Island", being brought to McGill by the Film Society at a rental price of $50,000, is the dramatic film record of the notorious French penal island, and includes an interesting commentary on the island of Martinique.

"Cyprus is an Island, to be presented on the evening program along with the feature film, has been especially requested by the Graduates' Society. It depicts the story of the general nature and strategic importance of the island of Cyprus.

Students as well as graduates are welcome at the evening program, and as usual, coffee will be served during an intermission between films.

Prof. Keys Receives New Appointment

Dr. David A. Keys, the Macdonald professor of physics at McGill, has been named vice-president of the National Research Council in charge of the atomic energy establishment at Chalk River, Ont. In taking over this post Dr. Keys will be the senior resident in charge.

The National Research Council will be fully responsible for the operation of the Chalk River plant on February 1.

Dr. Keys has been with the Macdonald Physics Department here at McGill for the past 25 years. In addition to his first year course in physics, he also gave courses in advanced optics, geophysics, and electron physics. During his early career, he did pioneer work in the development of the cathode ray oscillograph. Lately he has become a leading authority in geophysics with reference to its use in prospecting for minerals. A textbook written by D. Keys and Dr. A. S. Eve is regarded as the standard text on geophysics.

Dr. Keys was born in Toronto, and was educated at the Universities of Toronto, Harvard and Cambridge.

During the First Great War he did research in the anti-submarine division of the Admiralty. In 1922, Sir Arthur Currie, then principal of McGill, brought Dr. Keys to McGill. He was made associate professor in 1926, and a full professor in 1929. During the past war, he had an important part in the training of radio technicians. Later he was head of the McGill University. Civil Engs. Plan Films Tues. at 8

The McGill Engineering Society of McGill will feature "Mulberry" and the Montreal - Portland pipeline project plus shorts in their first "Film Nite" presentation to be shown in the Physics Building auditorium at 8 p.m. tomorrow evening.

Operation "Mulberry" was one of the war's top flight secrets, and its filming, in sound, now offers a ring-seat to all phases of this work. The presentation at this time is from a structural viewpoint, however the overall features of this project will prove of general interest, both to non-engineering students and veterans. Another sound-picture, filmed in colour, portrays the construction of the Imperial Oil Company's Montreal-Portland pipeline with the epochal St. Lawrence river crossing. This film is at present being shown in Portland where it is attracting attention among engineers.

Supplementary features, consisting of the cable strands for the of a film showing the manufacture of the largest suspension bridge, the Lions Gate at Vancouver. Another film will depict the antics and final disaster of the Tacoma Narrows bridge which earned herself the dubious title of 'Galloping Gertie'.

The Civil Engineering Society is taking this opportunity to invite all students to their Film Nite, and president George Schneider reports that Dawson students desiring to attend will have ample time to catch late busses back to St. John.

L. C. Raymond Named Head Agronomist

Professor L. C. Raymond, M.Sc., has been appointed chairman of the Department of Agronomy at Macdonald College. He succeeds the late Professor Robert Summerby, who, until his sudden death last September had held the post since 1919.

Professor Raymond is a native of New Brunswick, and received his early education in the schools of that province. He entered Macdonald College in 1908 with the second class in agriculture, graduating in 1912 with the degree of Bachelor of Science in Agriculture. With the exception of an interval, during which he studied for the M.Sc. degree at the University of Wisconsin, and two years in military service during the Great War, he has been continuously connected with the college since graduation, rising through the different academic grades of Assistant, Lecturer, Assistant Professor and Associate Professor.

Among other things, Professor Raymond has done pioneer work in the development of varietal hybrids in corn. As chairman for many years of a joint research project on pasture improvement, he has participated in, directed and coordinated a series of studies of practical and scientific value.

Professor Raymond is the author of many articles, pamphlets, and bulletins on agronomic subjects, and a member of numerous administrative, technical and scientific committees and organizations. In addition, he is at present a director of the McGill Graduates Society.

Women's Club Hears Politician Authoress

The Women's Canadian Club will hold their next meeting in the Rose Room of the Windsor Hotel at 3:15 p.m. this Thursday. The Guest of Honour, Miss Frances Perkins, former Secretary of Labour and the only woman who has held cabinet rank in the United States, is one of the foremost women of the world today. Her distinguished background in labour and industrial relations qualifies her to interpret the future role of labour.

A graduate of Mount Holyoke and the University of Pennsylvania, Miss Perkins, as Secretary of Labour, worked with Mr. Roosevelt and thereby came to know him very well.

In her subject, The Destiny of Labour and Comments on President Roosevelt's Programme, she will use some of the material from her recently published book, "The Roosevelt I Knew."

Campaign For War Memorial To End Soon

Eric Leslie, chairman of the executive committee of the McGill war memorial campaign, announced at a meeting of the general committee and campaign workers held recently in the Faculty Club, that the campaign will end this year, probably in May, with $750,000 set as the minimum over-all objective.

Mr. Leslie also revealed that "The Board of Governors of the University has agreed to finance any expenditure required to complete the project in excess of the total contribution of the war memorial campaign." They have also agreed that the swimming pool would be started in 1947, provided "labour and material justify". Every effort would be made to complete the rink auditorium, the second part of the planned athletic centre, "at the earliest possible date."

Indications were that out-of-town committees would be able to raise $100,000 during 1947. The local branch of the Graduates' Society has been aiming for an objective of $100,000. The pledges previously made and payable in 1947 and in subsequent years totals $96,000, of which $50,000 is payable in 1947.

William Sellar has resigned as campaign secretary, as he is leaving to take up law practice in Calgary. His successor is Lyle Pattee.

Obeck Heads List Of Contenders for McGill Grid Post

Joe Krol Included in Group Of Five Top Applicants for Job

By NORM WOLFE

Principal James Football Probe Committee has whittled the list of possible grid coaches down to five prominent contenders, the McGill Daily learned from an authoritative source last night. After carefully considering 39 applications from candidates all over the United States and Canada, the committee will meet tomorrow to agree on the recommendations that shall be forwarded to a meeting of the Board of Governors early this week.

Victor Obeck, an American professional football player whom Earl "Whizzer" Smith, student member of the FPC described on "McGill Speaks" Saturday evening as "the man we want", heads the list. Other highly-rated applicants include Joe Krol, famous Toronto Argo grid star recently named Canada's athlete of the year; Art

Psychologist Speaks At E.I.C. Meeting

The Junior Section of The Engineering Institute of Canada will have as their speaker Dr. J. S. A. Bois, Psychologist, who will speak on "How To Train Your Mind". The meeting will take place at 9:15 p.m. tonight at the Montreal Branch at 2050 Mansfield Street.

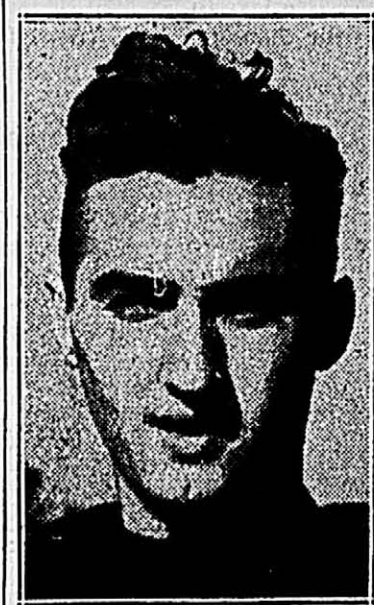

"Dr. Bois is conversant with the know how that builds creative thinkers. The brains which ushered in the Atomic Age. His presentation of five practical devices, for the use of those who would achieve, will open new possibilities to the coming leaders of business and industry," stated the secretary of the Institute.

McGill Grad Wins National Competition

Herman Klein, of Montreal, a McGill graduate, is the successful candidate in the Dominion-wide competitive examination for Electrical Engineer, Grade 4 (Radar) in the Department of National Defense, Naval Service at Ottawa. It is announced by the Civil Service Commission today.

This post is in the Directorate of Electrical Engineering, which is responsible for the installation and maintenance of all radio and electronic equipment. The appointee will conduct research in radar with a view to the development of new or improved systems of communication and navigation.

Mr. Klein graduated from McGill in electrical engineering in 1930 and was in the employ of the RCA Victor Company in Montreal from 1935 to 1946, later as a development Engineer. From 1931 to 1934 he was on the professional staff of the Canadian Marconi Company at Mount Royal as Assistant Research Engineer and later as Shift Engineer. He has recently completed studies leading to his Masters degree on electrical communications.

JOE KROL, Canada's Athlete of the Year, is one of the top candidates for the McGill grid post, according to reliable information obtained by the Daily last night.

West, coach of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers; Frank Gnuv, youthful mentor of the Hamilton Wildcats; and A. B. Hodgetts, who directs the destinies of the Trinity College School grid squad. Applications have been received from all these men except Gnuv, but the youthful American who was voted All-Eastern Canadian quarterback this past season is still a likely prospect.

OBECK HEADS LIST

Obeck, 29-year-old Philadelphia-born grid star, is a graduate of Springfield College, a Physical Education School. Odds are that Obeck, who is presently completing his M.A. at Columbia University where he was an assistant coach under Lou Little, will be the FPC's top recommendation. The Brooklyn Dodger's lineman was in Montreal conferring with the committee over the weekend, and reportedly impressed Obeck has coached at Akron, Ohio, and is said to be competent in boxing, wrestling, swimming and several other smaller sports.

For Student Voice

While the average college student has become stereotyped in the mind of the man-on-the street as a happy-go-lucky playboy cheering his fellows on to athletic victories, poor old Joe has had some worries on his mind. One of the most important, which may have been the reason for his occasional escapade, is the question of security—the very serious problem of jobs after graduation as well as during the summer months when his tuition fees and spending money are earned.

For some time the summer employment problem has been handled by a placement service under the Students' Executive Council. However, the more important question of post-graduate employment has been left on the loose—that is, until recently. A short time ago, the Graduates' Society decided to look into the employment problem with a view to placing McGill graduates. After preliminary discussion with the University authorities a University Placement Board has been set up including in its policy-making group several graduates and several staff members including the Veterans' Counsellor. A few ex-officio members, including the Principal, round out the committee. Under this committee is a special sub-committee which will handle the day-to-day problems.

The main idea behind this Placement Bureau, which is expected to go into operation in the near future, is to use Graduates' Society contacts in industry for the placement of recent graduates. The Graduates expect to have their organization connected with every Branch of the Society throughout the United States and Canada. The next move, once the organization has shown signs of flourishing and of a capacity to handle the new graduates, will be a spread into the problem of part-time employment.

This organization has been very well received and for good reason. In the major effort, one of the most pressing problems of students as well as of the country in general will be attacked in a forceful manner. Not only will students benefit, but the lure of jobs in the United States and other countries will be cut down in strength with graduates of Canadian universities being absorbed into an expanded Canadian industry instead of being another export product.

However, students have been disappointed by a lack of representation on the policy-making committee. For the past few years we have been told that we are a responsible group—and yet are denied responsibility in this pressing question in which we are all so interested. Our own committee—the Placement Bureau in the Union—is being absorbed into the larger body, but no allowance has been made to give us a voice in its stead.

It is accepted that the problem involves students to a great degree. While we appreciate the overall aims of the Bureau on our behalf, we consider that the committee on policy should be extended to include student representation. Only in this way can student views and problems be presented directly; only thus can the success of the venture be truly measured.—A.K.

The Movies

NO LEAVE NO LOVE

"No Leave, No Love", starring Van Johnson, is an enjoyable, if rather long film. Carrying the comedy throughout, and rather admirably too, is Keenan Wynne, and some amusing and occasionally hilarious sequences revolve around a new and delightful character, somewhat reminiscent of the late Lupe Velez, the Mexican Spitfire, only this one is a Russian countess born in Texas.

The plot of the story is not too good. Van, a Marine hero, is invited to be guest on a radio program. Keenan, his pal who constantly gets them both into hot water in his efforts to get something for nothing, is forced by Van to assume his identity on the show. Then a regular mixup ensues, with the sponsor of the radio show, played by Edward Arnold, throwing his weight around, and pretty Pat Kirkwood, an English actress, hopping about trying to keep everyone happy. Incidentally, Pat has a rather nice singing voice.

The supporting program consists of a witty little comedy about faults of husbands and an interesting newsreel. — G. T. W.

LADY LUCK

Barbara Hale, Robert Young, and Frank Morgan gamble their way through "Lady Luck" at the Princess Theatre. However, the lady was not very lucky, after reforming her gambler husband, she succumbed to the germ of chance herself, and thus lost her husband. Frank Morgan is a refreshing note in an otherwise uninteresting picture. If you happen to like poker, roulette, or craps you won't enjoy this picture very much—it makes gambling look too easy.

Also on the program is "Criminal Court" with Tom Conway, and Martha O'Driscoll. Mr. Conway portrays a suave criminal lawyer who gets Miss O'Driscoll, a night club singer, off a murder rap in the face of insurmountable odds. Incidentally he also manages to marry her. 'Nuff said. K. S. T.

THREE LITTLE GIRLS IN BLUE

A little bundle of blithe personality in the form of Celeste Holm is dished up only too infrequently in the Technicolor review now showing at the Palace.

The former star of "Oklahoma" on Broadway, steals her way into her audience's heart with her rendition of "Toujours la Dame" and warrants the most elaborate and most expensive tests ever accorded an aspiring star. Miss Holm est la, but definitely.

The picture is the story of three pretty farm lassies, June Haver, Vera Ellen, and Vivian Blaine, who go to the big city to find rich husbands. Miss Blaine and Miss Ellen pose as secretary and maid to Miss Haver, a false decoration of the haute mode.

There is a lot of good music woven into the plot, making for light entertainment and easing the complex proceedings. Vera Ellen's dancing is a treat to watch and her presence along with that of Celeste Holm's makes the whole thing worth while. — M. S.

BLACK BEAUTY

Hollywood has gathered together a few stable characters and members of the horsey set to make a screen adaptation of Black Beauty. It might be better box-office if it was renamed "Equine Love" or "Horses Neck". From where I sat I got a different slant on things. As to whether I think you'll like it, the answer is, "Neigh".

"Wanted For Murder", a British

Vivaldi and Pergolesi

Novel string music will be added to the sixth concert of chamber music in the present series by the Montreal Festivals which is to be given at the Hermitage on Friday, January 31, by the McGill String Quartet. This is to consist of a concerto grosso by Antonio Vivaldi and a rarely heard concertino for strings by Giovanni Battista Pergolesi.

The seventh, eighth and ninth of the Twelve Grand Concertos will continue the Handel series. The tenth, eleventh and twelfth will complete the series in a subsequent concert.

The Vivaldi Concerto, Opus 3, No. 8, is dated 1715 and is regarded by many as one of the most remarkable examples of baroque chamber music. It numbered among its contemporary admirers none other than Johann Sebastian Bach who made a transcription of it for organ.

The Daily Meets:

MAJOR E. D. FULTON

By Jean H. Pouliot

Student veterans' grants, veterans' pensions, the espionage trial, all were treated with equal ease and thoroughness by Major Fulton when we met him Wednesday.

The young Conservative member of Parliament from British Columbia served with the Seaford Highlanders during the last war, and has been quite active in connection with endeavours at bettering the lot of university-going vets, since his election to the House of Commons in 1945.

Major Fulton, having consulted the report of the National Conference of Student Veterans, doubts that the present grants are adequate—at any rate for married students, some of whom have children to support while pursuing their studies. A motion was put forward to have the allowances of married vets increased. Of course the need varies with the individuals; and Major Fulton holds that although an increase in cash grants might not be necessary in a number of cases, provision should be made for loans to student veterans. The present grant to universities for that purpose features unnecessary administrative difficulties, the Major fears, and he feels that this could be remedied if vets could negotiate these loans directly with DVA representatives.

Another item of interest is related to the Pensions Act. Under the present legislation, a veteran applying for a pension has to prove that his disability is 100% due directly to his military service. The veteran is entitled to the benefit of the doubt, contends Major Fulton, and it should be provided that "the medical category indicated on the veteran's attestation papers should be presumed his actual physical condition at the time, so that any subsequent alteration in his health which becomes evident before the time of his discharge, should be considered due to his military service."

The opinions voiced by Major Fulton on personal freedom should find a friendly echo on the campus that was stirred, a few weeks ago, by the Jehovah Witnesses incident. Major Fulton worked in association with famous debater Diefenbaker when the latter tried to introduce a Canadian Bill of Rights, which would prevent the repetition of technically legal arrests, such as was the case for those held in the espionage trial. During the last parliamentary session, Mr. Diefenbaker suggested an amendment to the Citizens' Act, providing for such a Bill of Rights. It was turned down, but Mr. Diefenbaker's associate intends to revive the issue in the next session.

The very active M.P., graduated from the University of British Columbia with a Rhodes scholarship in 1936. He is still keenly interested in university activities. In the recent months, Progressive Conservative clubs have mushroomed on campuses between Vancouver and Halifax, and Major Fulton sees in this an encouraging sign of the increasing interest shown by the student body in politics in general, and in his party in particular.

whodunnit, deserves a better fate than this double bill. Eric Portman and Stanley Holloway turn in excellent performances in a well-acted production. — J.

NOTORIOUS

Definitely recommended is "Notorious", now showing at Loew's Theatre. Not one of the ten best pictures of the year, but definitely on the runner-up list, due to the impact of Ingrid Bergman upon Cary Grant and audience. For admirers of the beautiful and versatile Miss Bergman, and of Cary Grant, this is superb entertainment, and it includes Claude Rains in a supporting role of the finest calibre.

The story owes its life to Miss

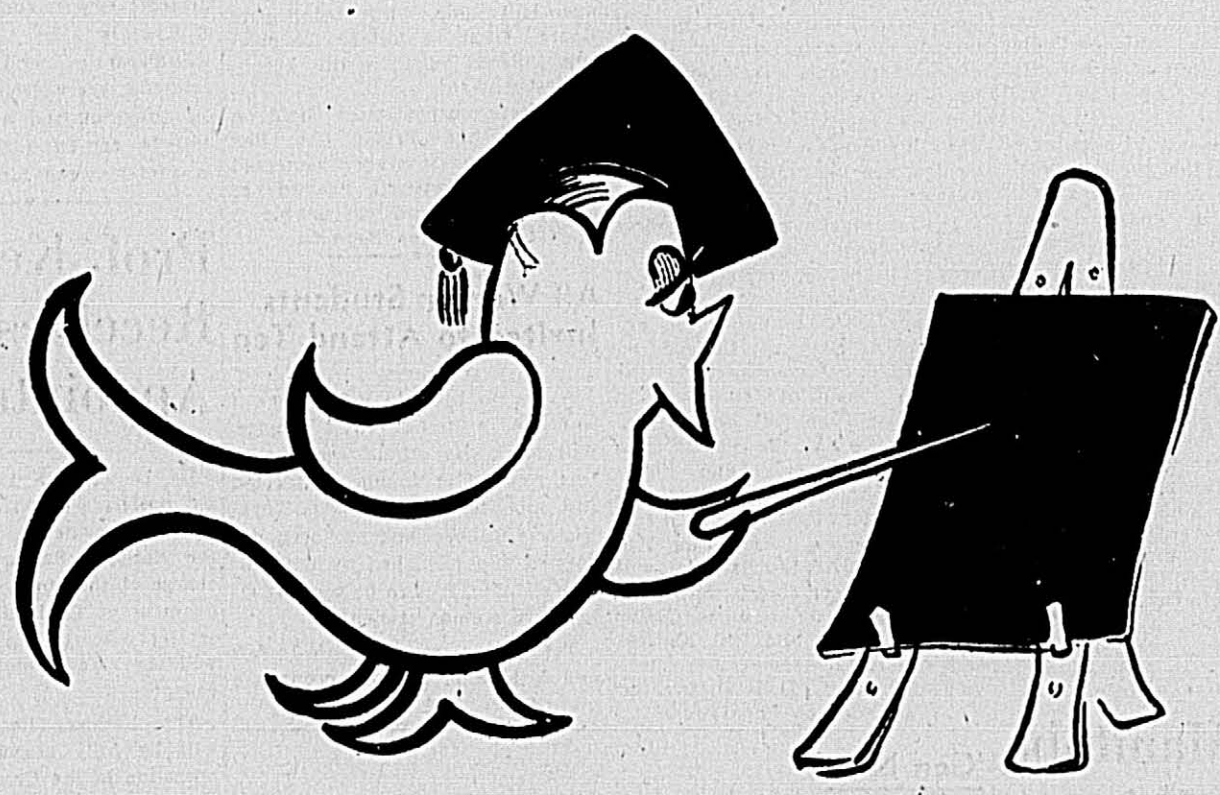

Bergman, who plays a spoiled rich girl (father a Nazi). She never sympathized with him, and when he is tried and convicted, in the U.S., she is cleared.

While in an interned state she meets Cary Grant, a U.S. Intelligence agent, who thinks that she would make a good agent. With her father's record she can gain admittance to Nazi spy groups. Miss Bergman falls in love with Mr. Grant, and becomes an agent.

Whereupon the old adage—the course of true love never runs smooth. There are keys, and slow poisoning, and wicked old ladies. But directing, photography, and script are very well done and make, on the whole, a movie very much above the average. — L.P.

RED SQUASHMEN DOWN U of T AND DARTMOUTH

Culver, Landry Star As Squashers Trim Opponents 7-0; 4-3

The McGill Squash Team were "Doin' what Comes Natchurly" as they gave their best for the Red and White and provided a splendid afternoon's entertainment for Squash enthusiasts Saturday afternoon when they downed the Varsity Blues 7 to 0 and then turned against the Dartmouth boys to defeat them 4 to 3. The Star of the Meet was dashing Pete Landry, who was the only one of all the competitors not to drop a single game.

The McGillians were all Squash and no Squish, and found no difficulty in dealing the Shut-out to the Toronto boys in the first tilt. Although the twenty-two games played were evenly matched throughout, the McGill boys kept the upper hand at all times and only allowed one game to be taken by the Torontonians. This was the first game in the set of Dave Culver of McGill against "Lefty" Lou MacFarland of Toronto. However, this was only a teaser on Dave's part and he came forward and took the next three games, winning the set 3 to 1.

LITTLE TOUGH
The second tilt against the boys from Dartmouth was not so easy, for the Redmen, and the boys were given a run for their money as they "Ducked" and "Batted" their way to victory. The deciding set of this contest was the Colquhoun-Barrett game, in which Bob Colquhoun was within two points of defeat in the fourth game. However, Bob rallied and managed to edge out a 3 to 2 win.

Don Farlinger found some difficulty in catching on to the Snappy serves of Hartmann of Dartmouth, but after the first game got his bearings and managed to take the next three games. This was the first time that an American team has played on Canadian courts and the McGill boys were not to let them win.

There was more Squash in the limelight in Montreal this weekend, in the form of the play-offs for the Canadian Squash Singles Championship. Tim O'Keefe of Montreal downed Pete Landry three to nothing, in the quarter finals, but this was not to discourage Pete, as was evident in his showing Saturday afternoon. Final winner in the Canadian singles tournament, who defeated Tim O'Keefe of M.A.A.A., 3-1.

RESULTS
Results of the McGill-Toronto, McGill-Dartmouth meet were as follows: First tilt: Landry of McGill downed Callahan of Toronto 3-0 (15-13) (15-13); Colquhoun (McGill) defeated Bramble (Toronto) 3-0 (15-10) (15-7); Malinger (McGill) beat Higgenbottom (Toronto) 3-0 (15-13) (15-13) (17-16); Culver (McGill) defeated MacFarland (Toronto) 3-1 (8-15) (15-10) (15-8) (18-16); MacFarlane (McGill) beat Youngs (Toronto) 3-0.

Gymnasts Compete for Trophy In Wicksteed Meet February 8

An opportunity will be afforded the gymnasts of McGill to add their names to those of their illustrious forebears who, for 65 years, have kept alive the oldest of McGill's indoor sports.

On February 8 at 8 p.m., in conjunction with the Intramural sports night, the Wicksteed Meet will be held. Competitors will vie for the famous Wicksteed trophies which are as follows: The Silver medal for the winner in the graduate year, the Bronze medal for the winner in the intermediate year, and the F. W. Harvey Cup for first man in the freshman year. The competition will consist of one voluntary routine on the High Bar, Parallel Bars, Mats, and Rings or Side horse. Awards go to highest aggregate points scored in each of the three divisions.

MANY EXPERTS
McGill, this year, has many splendid gymnasts in the persons of new students as well as the old faithful such as John Foster, the winner of the '46 Bronze Medal, Jack King, Terry Leslie, Art Henderson, Frank Barret and Fred Johnson. The new students who will give these men some stiff competition, are Doug Marsland, Haeley Armstrong, Don Cochrane, Marcel Nadeau, and members from Dawson College. These men in their graduate years are Gilles Gagnon, Tom Pepper and Gilbert Bartholomew. Any other gymnasts who have not turned out to practice yet are very "welcome to compete", the Daily has been informed. Notices have been posted for convenience of those interested, on the various faculty boards, and

Intercollegiate High Scorer—Tommy Hale

The scoring race in the intercollegiate hockey loop certainly opened up wide during the weekend, and the bunching of the top contenders that was evident before the weekend, no longer exists.

Tommy Hale of the Red hockey machine added three goals and one assist to his total, so that he is now at the head of the flock with 10 points for the four games played to date.

Bark, of Varsity, who had been tied for first place with Tommy Hale, failed to pick up any points over the weekend, so that he still remains in the scoring race with a six point total.

The other puck chaser who shared top honors with Hale and Bark, before the action-packed Friday night game, is Gignac, of the Carabins squad. In their game anyone desiring even more detailed information may obtain same from Art Henderson at PL. 4488. Practices are held in the Gym. every Mon., Wed. and Fri., from 5.30 to 6.30 p.m.

WEIGHTLIFTING
Weightlifting will be another feature attraction on Feb. 8 eve. The 132 class McGill entry will be? As yet no one is entered, not be. Continued on Page 4.

Varsity Blues Defeat Kingston Gaels by 5-3

The Varsity Blues Senior hockey squad came from behind last Friday night to beat a determined Tricolor sextet by the score of 5-3. At one time, Queen's sported a 3-1 lead but after an argument that followed Toronto's second goal, the Gaels attack seemed to deflate itself and Varsity rapped in three goals in the final minutes of the contest.

Boyd of the favored Varsity squad opened the scoring early in the first period, but Davidson of the Tricolor team evened it up only ten seconds later to end the scoring for the period. The lone tally of the middle stanza was again notched by Davidson, giving the Gaels a 2-1 lead. In the final frame, Davis of Queen's best goaler Dick Ball after only four minutes of play; but this was the queue for Rutledge, Johnston and Romanick of the Blues to tally three quick deciding goals.

Dawson Senior Hoopsters Defeat Clarkson 44-28; Intermediates Lose To Westmount Juniors 39-24

Orlick's Proteges Trim Americans

By GORDON KOBAY
St. Johns, Jan. 25th: The Dawson Senior Cagers came into their own tonight when they walked over the Clarkson College team from Malone, N.Y. by a score of 44 to 28. The game was definitely Dawson's from start to finish, and was an abrupt turnaround from the one in which the St. Johns boys played in Malone against the same team earlier in the month. This time it was the Americans who just couldn't find the basket no matter how much or how hard they tried. They were also at a disadvantage because of the oversized floor in the Orlick Palladium to which the Dawsonites have adapted their fast, speedy play. Said Clarkson coach "Dutch" Prochell, well-known American basketball and baseball player. "They were right on the beam and we were off. They outplayed us from start to finish. They were definitely the better team."

GOLDBLOOM BACK
Big guns for the Dawson squad were the Taylor brothers, with Ken accounting for 14 points, and Vern 15. Team play and speed were the keynote of the night as these boys were "set-up" time and again by "Red" Somers, Johnny Gearey and Bob Forcand. Playing coach Charlie Goldbloom played a stellar game as guard. The crowd of 350 were pleased to see "Goldie" back in action after a lengthy lay-off resulting from an ankle and leg injury sustained in a pre-Christmas game against the Georgians. Clarkson's high-scorer was big Tommy Brooks who hit the basket. Continued on Page 4.

McGill Swimmers Trimmed 58-17

Over the weekend The Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute of Troy, New York handed the McGill Redmen a blasting defeat to the melody of a 58-17 final count. The weekend feature presented Elliot Young as McGill's limelight man with a total of eight points.

"The Redmen did better than ever" said one of the McGill teammates, "but against a team like that, you've got to do a lot better than even that." The visiting natators were trip-tired after a solid morning of train riding, and took against the Redmen, Gignac garnered a single assist, to put him in third spot with 7 points.

A complete list of all players with totals over five points is as follows:

Fencer Aime Pouliot Wins for Lawyers

Saturday's Intramural Fencing Tournament saw Aime Pouliot (Law I) the overwhelming victor, by capturing first place in all three branches of the competition. In virtue of Aime's triumph, the Law Faculty came out on top with 15 points.

George Aime Pouliot showed flying colours and fencing ability, when he captured the intramural championships in the foil, epee and sabre, losing only one bout in 15 starts. Bob Moffat (Science 3) placed second with a total of eight points, while Mike Ellwood (Architecture) and Len Druckman (Science 3) tied for third place with six points apiece.

LAW WINS
In the Faculty department, Law came out on top with fifteen points; Science placed second with fourteen; Medicine came next with 7; Architecture placed fourth with six points and the Graduate School trailed with three.

In last year's competition Moffat took the foil and epee events. Esakfi, who took the sabre event last year, placed fourth this year with four points.

Chaloner Gets Six For Intermediates

By OY BERLIN
St. Johns, Sat., Jan. 25. — In a preliminary game to the Dawson-Clarkson match, the Intermediates dropped an exhibition tilt to the Westmount Juniors 39 to 24. Missing from the Dawson lineup were guard Larry Brown, and forwards Ellie Godel and Mickey McKinnon. Using only seven men a determined squad tried everything in their power to stop the rampaging Westmounters, only to find that the MacLeod boys had a little too much on the ball. These two brothers collected 16 points between them, while Weiner notched up ten points.

Tig Chaloner, playing perhaps his best game of the season for Dawson, was the leading scorer for the home team getting six points. "Doc" Blanchard and Frank Ramsay, the "mighty might" sank four points each.

FAST BREAKS
The game was accentuated by its fast play, something the Dawson boys have been trying to get the other teams in their league to play. The Westmounters relied on a fast breaking game that would be able to get the ball in the opposition's basket before the Dawson boys knew what was coming off.

Coach Jim Holmes thinks that the game will prove to be a lesson for the boys for their game against the University of Montreal Wednesday night at the Orlick gym. The lineups read as follows: Dawson: Chaloner, 6; Blanchard, 4; Ramsay, 4; Zunder, 3; Bedard, 2; Laing, 1; Keeler, 4. Westmount: G. MacLeod, 6; Weiner, 10; Field, 8; S. MacLeod, 10; Siemers, Dudley, 2; Young; Binmore, 3.

Basketball and Hockey Continue, As Intramural Volleyball Begins

The Dentists have dug their teeth into this Intramural Hockey League and are showing us what they can do when they get together. Joining them for best chances to win in this week's scheduled games are the spirited Commencemen, who gave the lawyers something to talk about last Wednesday by defeating the latter 7-2.

Here's what's coming off:
Monday: Comm. vs. Arts 5-6;
Science vs. Law 6-7.
Tuesday: Eng. vs. Phys. Eds 5-6;
Dentistry vs. Med. 6-7.

PRACTICES START
Intramural Volleyball starts its practices this week. Tuesday and Thursday at 5.15 and Friday at 6.00, are the dates set. Manager Larry Sireta says that the schedule is being prepared this week and will get under way next week. Plans are also being made to choose a team to represent McGill in city exhibition games.

Basketball continues again this Monday and Tuesday. It is hoped that the Basketmen discontinue their defaulting and turn up to play as good sports should.

GAMES PLAYED
In games played last Friday, Med. 3 defeated Phys. Ed. 2 by a score of 29-28. Sharkey grabbed top honors for the winners by notching ten points, while high scorer for the losing physical specimen was McLennan, who took nine points. In the second match of the day Phys. Ed. 3 was scheduled to meet Commerce 2B. Phys. Ed. won by default.

NOTICE
Will all coeds of the fencing club turn out for their McGill Annual Picture on Tuesday, 5.15 at the Currie Gym. Intersectional matches will be run off at the same time. Remember, even your presence means points for your section.

18 Markers Scored By Davidon; Duford Garners 14 Points

Fredericton, N.B., January 26.—(C.U.P.)—With a brilliant burst of speed and deadly shooting, in the last five minutes of an exciting exhibition match, the McGill Redmen turned a close contest into a decisive victory over University of New Brunswick Hill Men here Saturday night with a 44-36 score.

The two teams battled through an exciting neck and neck exhibition, where the outcome was anybody's guess until the closing minutes of the game. High scorers for the Red and White crew were Davidon with 18 points, 14 of them in the second half; and Duford made five in the first half and 8 in the second. Bloom accounted for 6 points.

ZONE DEFENSE
Garland with 10 and Stothart with 9 points led the luckless home team in the scoring parade. Scoring in the first half did not start for several minutes, until Davidon put in the first basket. McGill ran up an 8-4 lead, holding the Hill Men out of their zone, and puncturing the home zone with comparative ease.

Near the end of the first half three quick field goals put the U.N.B. in the lead and one for the Redmen ended the half 17-14 in favor of the home team. McGill recaptured the lead early in the second half with three quick field goals, and from here in the lead alternated from side to side with only as much as two points difference. With five minutes left in the contest, the score was equally divided among the competitors at 29 points each.

FINAL SCORE
It was at this point that the visiting Redmen went ahead to rack up fourteen points to the home team's seven, sewing up the game for the McGill quintet at 44-36.

On the whole the game was strictly refereed, 17 fouls being called on the Redmen and 11 on the home team. Roth was disqualified in the late stages of the tilt, with five fouls.

(For the Redmen, this encounter represents the last in a series of exhibition contests, which saw the Redmen win 3 games and lose 5. All in all these games will certainly give the cagers a handy edge when the intercollegiate schedule gets under way next Saturday against the University of Toronto (Blues.)

RVC Subscription Concert Will Feature Mario Berini

By DUSTY VINEBERG

Mario Berini is good! That much we have learned from students on the campus who have heard him before, both in Montreal and over the air, on the Metropolitan Opera broadcasts on Saturday afternoons. Apparently, he's also a personality, who, apart from his talent, is interesting to students—he is young, successful, he started out to be a doctor, and had a change of heart after playing the lead in a college opera, and has travelled all over the continent, and lived in Mexico. The executive of the McGill Student Concert Series has been extremely fortunate this year in obtaining artists of the calibre of Mr. Berini, and of Carol Brice, who made her Canadian debut at R.V.C. last November. Miss Brice came as a surprise to those who hadn't expected her to be possessed of so fine a voice; McGill can feel some pride in the fact that it was their Concert Series which brought this singer, who is destined for greatness, to Montreal for the first time. The executive of the concert series feels that Mr. Berini will meet with a similar reception. The musical tradition has been

Coeds Enjoy Themselves at Dawson Dance

Last Friday night, a group of McGill co-eds braved the treacherous trip to Dawson College via four chartered buses. The ride out to Dawson was quite uneventful, with the exception of viewing three transport trucks that had skidded into the ditch. This had a rather nerve-racking effect on our otherwise calm and cool co-eds. However, despite frantic pleadings, the buses rolled on.

The girls arrived a little late, but the Dawsonites were well rewarded with the ravishing beauties that survived the hazardous journey. The dance was well organized, and hence, a great success.

The return journey was not quite as successful as the trip out, for one of the buses went off on a side trip into the ditch. Fortunately, no one was injured. After wallowing around in the ditch to no avail, it was decided to await the arrival of the orchestra bus, which carried a tow chain. Most of the girls had clustered around the hapless bus to watch the proceedings by this time, and were not exactly overjoyed at the prospect of spending most of the night in the middle of the wilderness between St. John and Montreal.

However, Archie Elienne and his orchestra arrived on the scene in their bus. It was suggested to have a street dance out there, but apparently some individual decided against it, for it didn't materialize. Many methods were suggested as to how the bus should be removed, but most of these were rather impractical and were abandoned in favor of using a tow chain. The bus was finally hauled out amid loud cheers and the drowsy co-eds embarked for the final stage of the homeward trip.

Note to Warden of Women's Residences: This actually happened, the girls weren't kidding.

Ontario, implies that the backfield ace is seeking to obtain a permanent position where he will be able to settle down, and the McGill post would suit him to a "T". Aside from his storied football ability, the Windsor wonder is top-notch basketball and baseball player.

Among the other leading contenders for the position are West and Hodgetts. The former is a veteran coach, having spent over twenty years directing the University of North Dakota eleven before coming to Canada last year to lead the Winnipeg Blue Bombers to the Dominion grid finals against the Toronto Argos. Little is known of Hod-getts. Defensively Cy Belger stood out for the Redbirds, while Jean-Paul Gignac was among the Blue and Gold's best.

Second Tilt: Landry (McGill) defeated Straw (Dartmouth), 3-0 (15-11), (18-13), (15-2); Colquhoun (McGill), downed Barrett (Dartmouth)? 3-2 (10-15), (15-10), (12-15).

This being one of Dawson's Athletic Festivals, a well-attended dance featuring the Dawson Sound Service followed the game. It was following the detention without bail of Kent Rowley, head of the union, that Miss Parent took over and led the workers to successful conclusion of the 100 day old strike.

One of the only prominent woman labour organizer in Quebec, Madeleine Parent also has a unique background. Born of well-to-do parents, the speaker is the graduate of a convent (Villie Marie), a private school (Trafalgar) and McGill. When she came to McGill she soon became interested in the Canadian Student Assembly which was campaigning for government scholarships for students. Contact with labour groups in the Youth movement led her to head a class of Ladies Garment Workers and to teach English for the Workers Educational Association. From this her interest in the labour movement widened.

Had Cushioned the earth so softly that I
Wanted to lie there for ever and pass
My life in its vernal freshness. Your hair
Was sifted by the grass into golden strands
And your eyes shone like raindrops in the air
Of early spring showers. I buried my hands
In the wealth of your tresses and I pressed
My face to them and through my nostrils stole
The fragrance of your hair mixed with the lush
Damp smell of the spring turf. Your hands caressed
My face and a quiet happiness filled my soul—
The very trees stopped swaying in a reverent hush...

J. Blanchette To Address Liberal Club

The McGill Liberal Club is sponsoring an open meeting today at one o'clock in the Music Room. Jean-Guy Blanchette, recently Liberal Organizer in the Compton by-election, will speak on "Party Organization."

As Party Organization is a very important aspect of the democratic political system and one unknown to people not directly involved in politics, it is hoped that the subject will be of interest to the general student body.

At the end of the address a general discussion period will be held.

costume designer for the Red and White Revue, was interviewed by Ted last Friday evening and gave a few facts about the costuming of the show.

Although it had been previously reported that tickets for Saturday night had been sold out, the committee in charge wish to deny this. There are still some good tickets available for Saturday as well as all other performances. However, tickets are going fast, and it is advisable to get them as soon as possible in the McGill Union.

prairie both being newcomers to the I.U.D.L.
Because I.U.D.L. competition is so stiff and the debates are so technical, the topic must be carefully defined. "Veto Power" is the veto practised today: "effective working of the United Nations" is based on the understanding that ultimate world peace is the aim of the United Nations and "contributions" cannot be a point of debate. The judges will be carefully chosen and cannot be faculty men or alumni of either university.

SPEAKING OF WOMEN
This old world begin with one man, yess one single but contented man. That was until the Creator thought he needed company and added a woman. It was then that this poor bachelor's troubles started for this woman introduced a characteristic of her sex—temptation—For this she was punished, but not nearly enough because all through the ages she has managed to keep tagging along and adding to the world's woes and worries.

It is from this origin that the college co-ed arises, and it is these walking advertisements of Max Factor and Elizabeth Arden that we see from day to day on the campus. For when we admire a girl's looks how are we deceived males supposed to know what we are staring at through layers of pancake makeup? (Many a two faced woman is hidden by this asset). It is easily seen how the expres-

NOTICES
VETS DO AND DANCE
Another party organized by the entertainment committee of the Veterans' Society will be held this Friday night from 8 to 11:30 p.m. in the C.O.T.C. mess in the Sir Arthur Currie gym. Tickets will be limited to about 200 and will NOT be sold at the door. They will go on sale Wednesday in the Union Tuck Shop and in the Arts building. The affair is stag or drag and the tickets will be 25c a person.

LOST
Black Waterman's Hundred Year Pen, inscribed with the initials C.J.M. and army number D. 142125 on the gold band. It was left in Room No. 65 of the Arts Bldg. Thursday night. It still owes me ninety-seven years service so I would appreciate the finder getting in touch with C. Mignault, EL. 2360.

I will strongly suggest to the authorities that a new site be founded for the present post office. Under the present system the congestion caused at mail time can all be eliminated if organized properly.

It is well known that clubs add to the "Esprit de Corps" that is essential to a happy and united campus life. I pledge that the Council will give its fullest support to all existing clubs and will eagerly welcome any new clubs on the campus.

I will see that entertainment will be supplied, to the student body, to the limit of the Council funds. I will also instruct the Canteen Chairman to keep canteen prices at a minimum and in that way will be operated as close to cost price as is permissible.

NOTICE
It was announced by Coach Hutchings today that the intermediate hockey game slated to take place on Saturday at Macdonald College was postponed due to inclement weather.

She passed, I saw and smiled
She turned and smiled
An answer to my smile
I wonder if she, too, could know
Her underwear
Hung down a mile?
